MOROCCO

Dear Dr. Paque:

My colleagues here have informed me of your anticipated meeting in Vancouver in 1983. The possibility of your stopping here (it is a very easy stop-over between the two coasts), has a number of us are very excited. I would like to invite you to the Laboratory for a visit and discussions. We would also welcome a brief seminar but I do not want to impose such work on you unless it would give you pleasure.

Though my major work is in a considerably different field this did not prevent me recently from, brashly, summarizing Diet and Hypertension. I enclose it for your reference. There is, of course, absolutely nothing new in it for you. I have long heard of your interesting work in populations through my cousin by marriage, Charles Trocmé, a cardiologist of St. Etienne, as well as in the literature.

I will be in Algiers for a meeting during the week of February 15th. It is conceivable that I could extend my itinerary through Rabat, if you were present and if it would be possible to visit briefly. Under no circumstances would I want to inconvenience you. But to me it is an unusual opportunity for visiting North Africa. I will be addressing a meeting directed by Dr. Feghoul.

I, therefore, hope to see you either in Rabat or Minneapolis, or both, and send kindest regards from your colleagues here.

Cordially,

Henry Blackburn, M.D.
Professor and Director
