Dear Henry:

Many thanks for the pre-print of the chapter you sent to Paul Yu and John Goodwin. It provides 114 pages (two sides) of a very personal and sometimes provocative summary of recent developments in epidemiology and the prevention of coronary heart disease. It was also very enjoyable reading.

And I had to look up the word "mascon" because I had never bumped into it before and I'm indebted to you for adding a new word to my vocabulary.

I'm sure you've seen Jane Brody's article in the New York Times last Friday. In every way, that San Marco Symposium turned out to be a valuable educational experience for the science writing profession.

Best personal regards,

Thanks, Cam
