Dr. John B. Johnson
Professor of Medicine
Howard University
Washington, D. C.

Dear Dr. Johnson:

By good fortune I saw your late evening T.V. interview this week on the prevention of heart disease while I was visiting in Bethesda. Your responses were superb.

Ancel Keys has just retired and I'm starting a new program here. If there should be any serious candidates, along the line of the enclosed, I would be happy to hear from them.

Cordially,

Henry Blackburn, M.D.
Professor and Director
