Dear Henry:

Your Proposal that Dr. Reuben Berman be appointed Adjunct Professor in the School of Public Health pleases me very much and I give my hearty support to this proposal.

As you know, after various demonstrations of Reuben's competence, good will and public health interest in the early 1950s, I invited him to help me in surveys of men of Cagliari and Bologna, Italy, in 1955. He was most useful and since then I have had many demonstrations of his readiness to help medical research and the public health. He is a highly skilled internist but he is strikingly oriented to preventive medicine and the medical problems of the community.

Regards,

Ancel Keys
