Dear Darwin:

It was a fine meeting in Houston and we much enjoyed seeing you and Mer.

I am anxious to get the script of the seminar on trials as soon as it is available in any form.

I would be grateful if you could give a little thought to the U. S. Seminar, to whom we should pitch it, what we could hope to accomplish in one week, etc. I would like to make something attractive to young academic cardiologists, and for that matter, their chiefs.

Keep us in mind if you encounter any young types looking for some fun. We expect to have a good deal of activity around here soon.

A bientot,

Henry Blackburn, M.D.
