

March 26, 1970

Dr. Geoffrey Rose
St. Mary's Hospital Medical School
University of London
Paddington, London, W.2
England

Dear Geoffrey:

I am sorry to have been so slow to reply to your last two notes.
The London presentation is in good shape and needs no more.
Let me know if you would like my slides of our ECG data or prefer to make your own.

HLT and I were most interested in your work on physical activity and CHD. Congratulations, also, on your prevention trial. The lion roars again and the stars fade in the blue.

I will try to dig up Jerry's evaluation of the ECG analyzer. Siemens is doing this as in the enclosed. The Japanese have an on line device.
Neither is portable. I know of no other instrument designed especially for screening.

Regards,

Henry Blackburn, M.D.

HB/dh
Enc.