Dear Dr. Blackburn,

Many thanks for your letter. I have sent the information to Alex Burgess, and have also contacted Ben Baker.

I am not sure which copy of the questionnaire you have, so I am sending you a copy of the current version. It does not really differ in essentials from the earlier forms. We are however including some supplementary questions, to try and learn a little more about whether the answers would have any additional discriminatory value.

Does the little gadget described in the reprint interest you? As its inventor I think I can fairly say that I don't think it is very important!

Very sincerely yours,

Geoffrey Rose
