Dear Ray:

Thankssfor your letter of January 27, 1975. I am still considerably disabled but hoping to make a trip to Florida and get a little hot sand on my back.

I had greatly looked forward to Marco Island and stimulation of visiting with you and the rest of the investigators and with the science reporters.

I had also hoped to engage you in a pleasant debate using your own words, in your own book, so effectively de subtracting from the true nature and potential value of your researches. At any rate, sorry you had to tangle with Stamler and Ross, and maybe we'll have our day. I appreciated your note.

Cordially,

Henry Blackburn, M.D.
