Dear Henry:

It was good to see you, however, briefly, in Dallas this week. I am glad things are going well for you, and I envy you your two months in Australia. Won't you miss the Minneapolis winter?

As per our conversation, I am enclosing a couple of copies of OFF HOURS, yet another new BMI publication that will be launched in January. The article I would like to do on you would be for the life-style feature, similar to the one on John Vasko in this pilot issue. The focus would be your accomplishments and enjoyment as a jazz musician. I am delighted you have pictures of yourself with Woody Allen, and I hope you can also find some good shots of your playing at Preservation Hall. Your group in Minneapolis, and of course, your playing in Australia and other places around the world also would be featured. Since time is getting so short before your departure, we will plan to do it in March or April when you get back and are caught up a bit. At that time, perhaps we could also talk about the Minneapolis Heart Health project as a possible feature for BEING WELL.

Again, have a marvelous and productive time "down under" and I will look forward to seeing you upon your return.

Sincerely,

Genell Subak-Sharpe
