

UNIVERSITY OF MINNESOTA
TWIN CITIES

COMBES - WANZ
Laboratory of Physiological Hygiene
School of Public Health
Stadium Gate 27
611 Beacon Street S.E.
Minneapolis, Minnesota 55455

January 18, 1982

Yang Wang, M.D.
Professor
Department of Medicine
University of Minnesota
282 Variety Club Heart Hospital

Dear Friend:

Enclosed is the penultimate version of the program of the Henry Longstreet Taylor Colloquium for Saturday afternoon, May 29th, following the close of the American College of Sports Medicine annual meeting in Minneapolis.

If you have not previously heard from us or responded, we particularly need to hear from you soon with your suggestions. And if you need to discuss more what we're trying to accomplish, we'll be happy to hear from you by 'phone.

The pleasant task of the colloquium is to provide a summary and evaluation of an important scientist's contribution, to do it in a relatively succinct way, not attempting a full state of the art review, and providing insights and inter-relations sufficient to interest colleagues who will register for the public meeting. There is no plan for a publication.

There will be about 10 days from the time you receive this until the American College of Sports Medicine goes to press with this program. Obviously, we need your consent for the role assigned you and other suggestions at the earliest opportunity. Henry Blackburn is coordinating the celebration.

Cordially,

Henry Blackburn, M.D.
Professor and Director
Co-Chairman
Office Phone: 612/376-4060
Home Phone: 612/374-9016

Larry Rowell, M.D.
Co-Chairman

HB/jml

Enclosure