Dear Dr. Vaneslow:

Welcome to Minnesota!

This Laboratory is administratively with the School of Public Health but has many activities and joint appointments with the other health sciences and other schools on campus. We have sections on Epidemiology, Nutrition, Physiology, and Health Behavior -- bringing a number of disciplines together to address a major disease question. Next year we'll become one larger division as Epidemiology.

I enclose a summary of our largest current activity, a research and demonstration project in Minnesota communities which the Administration has strongly supported.

I look forward to seeing you at your convenience and receiving you in our area if you would like to visit.

Cordially,

Henry Blackburn, M.D.
Professor and Director
