Dear Doctor Weisburger:

With no regular secretary these days correspondence gets confused. I now find a draft of a letter to you dated about April 22 and no evidence the letter was sent. Here is what I wrote:

Thank you for your invitation to visit you at the Institute. It would be interesting to exchange ideas and to learn something about the activities of the Foundation in the areas of my interests in the diet and the epidemiology of coronary heart disease and neoplasms. Unfortunately it would not be possible to make a visit during my next transAtlantic travel.

We are booked to go to Washington for the meetings early in May and go from there straight to Italy. Perhaps I shall see you at Bethesda at the serum cholesterol - cancer symposium. Our return schedule is not yet fixed but we expect it will be in mid or late July.

Cordially,

Ancel Keys
