Dear Dr. Blackburn:

Thank you for your graciousness in setting an appointment for Tuesday, the 25th of March, at 9:30 a. m. in your offices for the purpose of discussing the testimony which the Government expects to elicit from you at the trial of the matter now pending between the Federal Trade Commission and the National Commission on Egg Nutrition which our firm represents. The interview will not be a deposition in the formal sense since, as I mentioned over the phone, an oath is certainly not a necessary prelude to the truth in the statements of a man of your stature.

I will be accompanied by one of my associates, and we will use a shorthand reporter and furnish you a copy of the transcription at our expense.

I want to assure you that the nature of our meeting will not be an adversary one. We are as anxious and as concerned as you and your colleagues that what is best for the public good be brought to the fore as a result of what we sincerely believe to be an unfortunate resort to litigation in order to establish the truth of certain scientific propositions.

Very truly yours,

James L. Fox
