Dear Harry and Marian:

How delightful to hear of your 90th birthday and your 60th wedding anniversary, and to receive your blessings and admonitions that I should "go and do likewise."

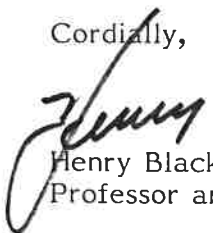

It is so good to stay in touch with you.

I still plug away here with a life of great adventure in a fine institution (with 500 employees!) and lots of good research and lots of good people to whom I can delegate.

However, I have had the joint loss in recent years of my son with a brain tumor and my wife of 33 years and my 90 year old father. But generally work is good and life is exciting. I was able to hold my father's hand during the three weeks of his terminal illness this fall, and we said and did all the things that we wanted to.

I still do battle occasionally in the finest Ungerleider tradition.

Cordially,

Henry Blackburn, M.D.
