Dear Mr. Paureiss:

I am the author of a short editorial piece published in the American Journal of Cardiology in Volume 58, 1986, titled "The low coronary risk male". Through Bill Roberts' interventions this was released and republished with AJC acknowledgement in one of the drug company mailouts a year or so later. We now have the request from a new magazine, Heartbeat, directed toward the patients of cardiologists, to reprint this article. It appears to have a wider appeal than the audience of the Journal and I am fully supportive of them to republish it. I hope you will be the same when representatives of that magazine contact you.

Cordially yours,

Henry Blackburn
