Dear Reuben:

It was good to run into you in the Calhoun shopping center recently.

For some years I have been disappointed that the University hasn't done more in recognition of Ancel Keys. It still remains a matter of energy and money. I am having a problem thinking about it in small terms, in other words, of 15 or 20 close associates. The audience tends to expand by leaps and bounds. I think if we could find support for, perhaps, 20 people we might have a larger group, maybe 40-50 that could come bringing their own expenses.

I wonder if you could conceive of any source for funding and if you would be willing to go to the Berman Foundation and the Minnesota Medical Foundation. I think if we had $15-$20 thousand guaranteed we could probably move ahead. I would imagine Fall 1990 would be the first time we could really get this together. I am now en route to Japan and will contact you on my return.

Cordially,

Henry Blackburn (nmf)
