Dear Henry:

I got your reminder note just after learning of Joe's diagnosis and subsequent death; I'm truly sorry I didn't have enough notice to do something.

I often think about the quality of the people around the table during our tenure--I don't know if it's simply recall bias, but I think they were pretty sharp. Of course that may just reflect the fact that I had so much to learn at the time.

Wish I could run into you some time at a meeting or something. I often wish I could get your (usually well) considered opinion on something in my area of ignorance. Maybe sometime here, there, or in Nawwleens.

Warm regards

Tom Mack
