

Details will be worked out at the Venice meeting but the general plan is to arrange a field examination situation in one of the areas currently under study, where local cooperation may be expected, and to simulate an actual study during an interim period in the bonafide study. This might take place in the Spring of 1966 in an area such as Finland, Italy, or Israel. Lectures and seminars would also be scheduled.

Preliminary ideas for the first faculty are given below:

Principal: Ancel Keys

Seminar Manager: Donald Reid

Instructor-in-charge: Geoffrey Rose

Questionnaire Methods: Geoffrey Rose/Fred Epstein

Clinical Methods: Aubrey Kagan/G. Tibblin/M. Toor

Blood pressure measurement: Walter Holland

Respiratory Function(?): Ian Higgins

Electrocardiography: Henry Blackburn/I. Mohacek

Modern instrumentation(?): Pentti Rautaharju

Peripheral vascular measures (?): Robin Herron

Physical Activity Assessment: M. Karvonen/J. Stamler/H. Taylor

Dietary Assessment: Ancel Keys/P. Roine

Chemical & Lab. Methods: T. Strasser/J. Anderson

Field Manager: Principal investigator in area chosen for the school.

A minimum working staff able to cover all areas would be Keys, Rose, Holland, and Blackburn plus a local field manager.
